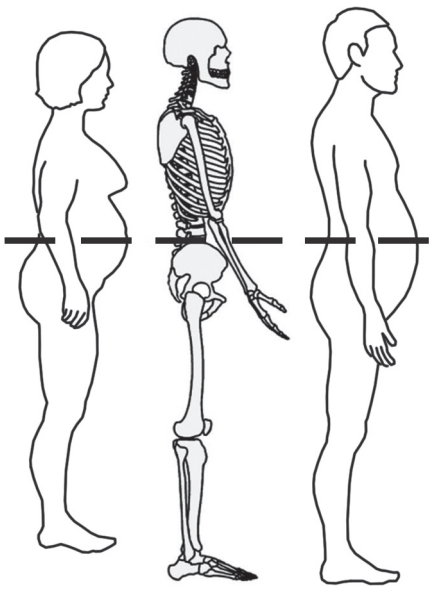
Tape to measure the distribution of adipose tissue. ABS body with ergonomic grip. The tape is made of a special non-deformable plastic material, with double coloured measurement scale for separate risk indications, male and female.
It can be used on all body circumferences, thanks to its retractable button and flexible stop which allows for the data to be read easily.
The particular flexibility of its non-toxic thermoplastic arm allows for specific use in paediatric settings

Tape position for the correct measurement of the abdominal circumference



Individual in standing position

Locate the upper edge of the hip and the top of the right iliac crest

Place the horizontal tape around the abdomen at the level of the edge of the iliac crest.

Before taking the measurement, make sure that the tap is tight but not compressing the skin and that it is parallel to the floor

Take the measurement at the end of a normal exhalation.
